Dr. Sass graduated Cum Laude from Ohio University and then completed his Doctor of Optometry at Ohio State. There, he became involved in the partnership program between Bausch and Lomb (developers of the first soft contact lens) and OSU's contact lens clinic. That opportunity ignited his passion for contacts and led him to serve as a clinical contact lens consultant, evaluating new contact lens designs and applications for some of the biggest names in the industry.

«We are big fans of Briot. Our optical purchased a Briot Alta Edger/Tracer 24 months ago. We have finished lenses in office for over 20 years and Briot is second to none. The after sale service is OUTSTANDING. Carl has been our sales and service representative for the past two years and the experience has been great. My lab technician Kaycee Yarbrough has been able to maintain high quality results with the use of our edger»
